Dear Scandura Customer

We are pleased to share the exciting news that with effect from 23rd December, Scandura Ltd will join Avon Group. The business will become wholly owned by Avon Group Manufacturing (Holdings) Ltd.

Avon Group is a long-established and highly successful engineering and manufacturing group with a Group turnover in excess of £70m. The acquisition of Scandura will provide an excellent opportunity for our business to grow and prosper as part of a larger organisation whilst retaining the ethos that has made us successful.

We will continue to trade autonomously as Scandura Limited under the same registered company and our relationships with suppliers will remain unchanged. We are confident that the acquisition will provide you with greater opportunities going forward.

Our bank accounts, contact details, and delivery address will remain the same.

On a personal level, we would like to express our thanks for your support for Scandura to date. I will be staying with the business and firmly believe Scandura will continue to flourish as part of Avon Group. We look forward your continued support during this time and to your company sharing in the future success of our business.

Yours sincerely

Alan Emery
